

Roadheader onboard guidance system

A roadheader excavation machine is navigating in the tunnel and mining the rock using an onboard positioning system equipped with fixed references and electronic devices. This ensures the roadheader follows the proper tunnel alignment.

In the clip, we see the roadheader's onboard guidance system monitoring the excavation in real time using robotic total stations, placed in the tunnel by survey underground networks.